

ABSTRACT

A moveable pin header assembly comprising a first header including a male connection mechanism (i.e., retention arm) and a second header including a female connection mechanism (i.e., opening) for receiving the male connection mechanism therein. The male connection mechanism is securely fastened in the female connection but can move longitudinally therein.